

Friday, May 23, 2008 - 12:08 AM

VIRGINIA

Denver firm needs representatives in Va.

Alpine Access LLC is expanding into Virginia and will hire 100 customer service representatives in the next several months.

The Denver company will not have a physical presence in the state but will hire representatives who work from home. The company is accepting applications from Arlington, Alexandria and Richmond.

Alpine provides customer-care services for companies. It touts contracts with Office Depot, J. Crew and the Internal Revenue Service.

In a statement, Alpine said it has about 7,500 home-based workers.

There were no details on how much the jobs pay or whether employees would qualify for benefits.